Welcome to our new Transforming and Innovating Public Services (TIPS) Programme 2018/2019. This is designed to engage professionals at various levels of the organisation in the public, private and third sector.

Our key aim in establishing this programme is to support high impact systemic change for people and places. It's focused on delivering improved outcomes through innovative citizen centered solutions that combine data, technology and culture change.

We offer a selection of plenary sessions, round table discussions, leading speakers, opportunities to discuss regional and national challenges and more. It's an opportunity which provides excellent opportunities to meet with colleagues and to informally discuss priorities and generally embrace the nature of this group.

With the intention of continuing to develop the momentum and enthusiasm already gained we do encourage you to take an active part in TIPS, to make the most of discussions, networking and other opportunities that present themselves

Priorities and Objectives

People and Place: This priority supports iNetwork's members to creatively find people-centered solutions and approaches to navigate and access local public assets.

Data & Technology: This priority supports iNetwork's members to deliver the intelligence and prevention agenda by developing capabilities to make better informed decisions and utilising digital technology to improve lives.

Culture and Leadership: This priority supports iNetwork's members to develop organisational change to achieve successful outcomes in the things that matter most to people, organisations and communities.
